Use of word processors

The centre's word processor policy (exams) is located on the school's website as part of the SEND Policy in Appendix 2. This policy includes the statement (see Appendix 2a), which details the criteria the centre uses to award and allocate word processors for exams.

"It is strongly recommended that a centre has a policy on the use of word processors which it can articulate to parents/carers. Principally, that a word processor cannot simply be granted to a candidate because he/she now wants to type rather than write or can work faster on a keyboard, or because he/she uses a laptop at home.

The use of a word processor must reflect the candidate's normal way of working within the centre and be appropriate to the candidate's needs...

A member of the centre's senior leadership team must produce a statement for inspection purposes which details the criteria the centre uses to award and allocate word processors for examinations."

As such, please note The Misbourne's Word Processor Policy Statement below:

Word Processor Policy Statement of The Misbourne:

The 'normal way of working' for exam candidates, as directed by the head of centre, is that candidates handwrite their exams. An exception to this is where a candidate may have an approved access arrangement in place, for example the use of a scribe/speech recognition technology.

Awarding word processors

There are also exceptions where a candidate may be awarded the use of a word processor in exams where he/she has a firmly established need, it reflects the candidate's normal way of working and by not being awarded a word processor would be at a substantial disadvantage to other candidates.

Exceptions might include where a candidate has, for example:

- a learning difficulty which has a substantial and long term adverse effect on their ability to write legibly
- a medical condition
- a physical disability
- a sensory impairment
- planning and organisational problems when writing by hand
- poor handwriting

Please note that this list is not exhaustive and The Misbourne will assess cases on an individual basis but it must be made clear that evidence must be provided that this is the student's/candidate's normal way of working and the school must agree with this evidence, i.e. that this is the student's/candidate's normal way of working – not as part of a parent/carer/specialist request.

It is imperative that the use of a word processor is granted in the correct manner – following the criteria stated above. Please note that the intention behind this word processor policy and statement is to meet the particular needs of an individual student/candidate without affecting the integrity of the assessment. Please see page 3 of the AA.

Allocating word processors

Appropriate exam-compliant word processors will be allocated by the IT department in liaison with the SENCo and the exams officer. In exceptional circumstances where the number of appropriate word processors may be insufficient for the cohort of candidates approved to use them in an exam session, the cohort will be split into two groups. One group will sit the exam earlier than or later than the published start time. The security of the exam will be maintained at all times and candidates will be supervised in line with section 2.11 of ICE.
